

How we use cookies and similar technologies.

Last updated: July 01, 2026

This Cookies Policy explains how fractionalchro.co.in uses cookies and similar tracking technologies on our website. It should be read together with our Privacy Policy.

1. What cookies are

Cookies are small text files stored on your device by your browser. They allow a website to remember information about your visit, such as preferences or session state.

2. Categories we use

- Strictly necessary cookies: required for the website to operate (load balancing, security, anti-CSRF, form submission).
- Preference cookies: remember settings such as your last selected page.
- Analytics cookies: help us understand how the website is used so we can improve it. These cookies are first-party where possible and aggregated.

However, we do not use third-party advertising cookies or cross-site tracking pixels on this website.

3. Managing cookies

You can manage or disable cookies through your browser settings. Most browsers allow you to accept, refuse or delete cookies, and to receive a notification before a cookie is stored. Note that disabling strictly necessary cookies may break parts of the website.

4. Server-side telemetry

For security, fraud prevention and aggregate analytics, our servers may log IP address, user-agent, timestamp and the URL accessed. These logs are retained for a limited period and accessed only by authorised personnel.

5. Changes

We may update this Policy from time to time. Any material changes will be posted on this website with an updated “Last Updated” date.